TACGEAR™

91.100 TACTICAL™ is pleased to introduce our TacGear™ product line. We think you'll agree that we have great products available for off-duty to extreme-duty law enforcement as well as other public safety personnel. All TacGear™ products are loaded with special features that enhance their durability and versatility while maintaining style & function. You can see this more completely described in the following pages.

91.100 TACTICAL™ has adopted a new icon to stand beside our American Eagle. This great animal who was once king of the western plains, embodies the spirit we want to bring you with our TacGear™ line of products. Thousands of these majestic creatures roamed the western United States in herds as vast as the untouched space they occupied. That was until they were hunted to the brink of extinction, but now the American buffalo is coming back against staggering odds. This demonstration of endurance and the indomitable fortitude of this Great Animal should be the standard bearer everyone should hope to achieve in their own life and in this case our fine products. Please welcome the American buffalo as our chosen symbol of enduring strength to represent the new TacGear™ product line.
